COMPLIMENTS BEGINNING TO FLY IN COUNTY CAMPAIGN—ATTORNEY GENERAL ANDREWS, ADDRESSING A REPUBLICAN MEETING, MAKES A FIERCE ATTACK ON THE CIVIC FEDERATION—A. M. BROWN HAS A DEFI FOR GOVERNOR CARTER.

Last night's Republican meeting at Emma Square was the close of as good an evening's campaigning as has been seen in Honolulu for many a day. Owing to the different candidates having to appear at two other meetings, it was late when they arrived, but the crowd was kept interested by other party men who were in attendance. Representative Ed. Quinn was in the chair and after several selections by the band, he called on Col. Sam Parker to open the meeting. The Colonel complied with a good humored speech in which he pledged himself to A. M. Brown and the straight ticket. Clarence Crabbe called for a loyal adherence to the party. He had been defeated for the nomination for sheriff himself, he said, but he gave a full and free support to those who had been chosen.

Representative Frank Andrade and Jim Quinn followed with addresses which were well received and National Committeeman A. G. M. Robertson followed.

"The Advertiser has done me the honor of calling me a 'pop-eyed parrot,'" remarked Robertson, "but after all that has nothing to do with this county election, the people want to get at the facts and you can see for yourselves that you can get the facts from a pop-eyed parrot when you cannot get them from a pot-bellied editor."

Continuing, Robertson counselled an unswerving allegiance to the party nominees and he handed a few compliments to the self-constituted body which had set itself up as the only and original truly good organization, the Civic Federation.

Charles Booth, Representative Carlos Long, J. M. Camara and E. R. Adams were followed by Delegate Kuhio, who, speaking in Hawaiian, aroused great enthusiasm among the natives present.

Attorney General Andrews came to the front with a rattling speech.

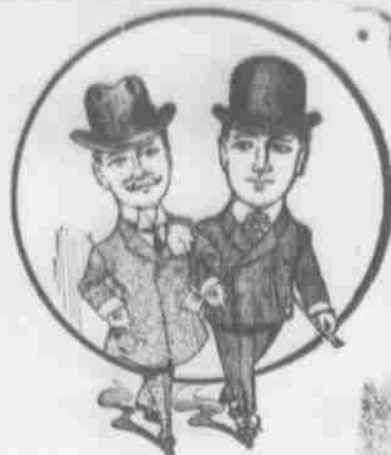

NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN A. G. M. ROBERTSON.

He chose the Civic Federation as the special object of attack. What did the Civic Federation represent, he asked. It held no primaries, it gave the people no opportunity to say whether they approved of the men it saw fit to nominate. It was simply a case of a dozen men getting together secretly and saying, "Well, Jones is one of us, we'll put him on our ticket." Then they will say, "Well, there's Smith. He'll do what we want. Let's have him," and so on with the whole crowd. The Civic Federation represents nobody but the few men who in a hole-and-corner meeting select some candidates they think would do as they want. It has no platform and has pledged neither itself nor its candidates to obey the behests of the electorate. The Republican party last fall went to the polls pledged to give the people county government. It had kept its promise in the legislature by passing a County Act which had been declared good by the courts and it was up to the people to send to the county councils Republicans who would keep their promises, not irresponsible Democrats who had never done anything but kick, nor Home Rulers who once had a chance to do something for the Territory but failed most lamentably and certainly not Civic Federationists who were pledged to nothing.

Arthur M. Brown was received with continued cheers upon his arrival with E. A. Douthitt and other candidates. He made a slashing speech handling Governor Carter without gloves and challenging to be done with innuendo and insinuation. There had been talk, he said, about a certain report in the Governor's hands and he suggested that the Governor had better publish that report in its entirety. Brown defended his administration of the office of High Sheriff and stated his unswerving belief in the coming success of the straight ticket.

After an address by Douthitt the meeting broke up with cheers for Brown and the straight ticket.
